

WILSON NOT READY TO DECIDE POLICY

BRYAN STATES THERE IS NOTHING NEW IN THE SITUATION.

FOREIGN POWERS WAIT

Agree to Delay Action Until the United States Has Settled Upon Its Possible Action.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Washington, Oct. 30.—Secretary Bryan, leaving today to speak in the New Jersey political campaign, said there was no change in the Mexican situation.

That the next step in the Mexican policy of the administration has not been finally worked out and may not be announced for another week was indicated today at the White House.

Time Is Needed. "It has been necessary," said Chairman Bacon of the senate foreign relations committee, "that the European nations should recognize the right of the United States to deal with the situation. Now that we have that recognition it will take a little time for the president to work out the problem."

Wait Election Report. The possibility that within the next few days a brief announcement will be made by the Huerta government of the result of the election is having the effect of postponing action by the United States.

Considers Plans. President Wilson is carefully considering suggestions from his advisers and it was said today that the plan might not be ready until next week's cabinet meeting.

Ask Information. To insure the safety of Gen. Felix Diaz and his party of refugees now aboard the battleship Louisiana Rear Admiral Fletcher has asked the navy department to decide whether they should be transported to some port outside of Mexico on one of the American warships.

Make Stops. Most of the commercial ships clearing from Vera Cruz usually touch at Tampico or some other Mexican port where it would be easy for the Huerta government to arrest the refugees.

On Mail Steamer. Acting Secretary Roosevelt of the navy today instructed Rear Admiral Fletcher to place General Felix Diaz, the Mexican refugees, and his party aboard a New York and Cuba mail steamer after the ship leaves the last Mexican port on her sailing. The ship has not been selected.

Date Not Settled. Under that plan Diaz and his party will be transferred from the battleship Louisiana to a New York and Cuba liner, after the latter sails from Progress at a date yet undetermined. Mr. Roosevelt's instructions were issued after a conference today with President Wilson. The transfer of the fugitive will be at sea to guard against their arrest by the Huerta authorities.

Report All Quiet. American naval officers on the warship now patrolling the west coast of Mexico seemed to know nothing of any peril impending at San Ignacio to the French colonists there. Rear Admiral Cowles from his flag ship California at Guaymas makes no mention of any trouble inland and reports all quiet at Mazatlan and Guaymas.

Important Capture. Mexico City, Oct. 30.—Gen. Geronimo Trevino, news of whose capture by rebels during an assault on Monterrey was telegraphed to the federal authorities by his son, was recently called to Mexico City by Provisional President Huerta, who is said to have offered him the provisional presidency. He has been a soldier ever since he reached manhood and was formerly federal commander of the northern military zone of Mexico, with headquarters at Monterrey.

EIGHTY-FOUR TONS OF GOLD TO COUNT

Eighty Four Tons * * * * * Army Watchmen and Battery of Guns Guard New York Sub-Treasury During Operation

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] New York, Oct. 30.—About eighty-four tons of gold which lies in the United States sub-treasury in Wall street, guarded night and day by a small army of watchmen with a battery of machine guns, is being counted by nine men sent over from the treasury department at Washington. Between 25,000 and 30,000 tons of silver also are being counted as well as several million dollars in bills and a few tons of nickels and coppers.

The task was begun Tuesday and will keep nine skilled men busy for three weeks. At the end of that time they are expected to inform Martin Vogel, assistant United States treasurer in charge of the New York sub-treasury that he has $171,103,230.12 of government funds in his keeping. If they should report $1 more or less than this amount there would be no rest until the cause of the discrepancy was discovered.

OPPOSE REDUCTION IN REGIONAL BANKS

Administration Leaders Defend Number of Branch Banks Provided in Money Bill.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Washington, Oct. 30.—The question of how many regional or branch banks shall be created to administer the new currency system was taken up today by the senate banking committee. Following conferences with Secretary McAdoo, Senators Owen, Pomeroy and others of the administration supporters were today inclined to oppose vigorously any radical reduction from the twelve regional banks proposed in the house bill. An agreement had been reached up to noon today.

METHODISTS' PLAN

Comprehensive Program Announced at Opening of Indianapolis Conference.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Indianapolis, Oct. 30.—Sanctioning a campaign for the evangelization of the world and accepting responsibility of one hundred and fifty million people in heathen lands and approving the financial scheme adopted by the general conference of the Methodist church at St. Paul in May 1912, the policy committee of the national convention of Methodist men made a tentative report today.

ACQUITTAL VERDICT RETURNED BY JURY

Widow of Rear Admiral Found Not Guilty of His Murder.—Bursts Into Tears as She Thanks Jurors.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Plymouth, Mass., Oct. 30.—Mrs. Jennie May Eaton was acquitted of the charge of murdering her husband, Rear Admiral Joseph W. Eaton, by a verdict of the jury rendered at 3:10 this morning.

Mrs. Eaton sat up in a private room at the court house until two o'clock this morning, when she was permitted to go to the judge's room where she slept on a couch until awakened at 4:30 and summoned to the court room.

Of the hundred persons who remained all night to hear the verdict a few were women.

After the foreman had announced the verdict, Chief Justice Aiken warned the jurors to keep secret the proceedings in the jury room.

Mrs. Eaton had left the court room the jurors, through their foreman, asked that they might be allowed to meet her, the permission was granted and they formed a semi-circle in the corridor. Mrs. Eaton came out from the judge's lobby and thanked them individually. As she did so she burst into tears for the first time since the trial started.

A little later Mrs. Eaton gave out the following statement:

"I am glad most of all because of my aged mother and my lame child. I am glad that I shall go home late today. I hope that a new life will be opened to me and that the tribulations which have been mine in the past are ended."

Her chief counsel, Mr. Morse, said: "It was Mrs. Eaton's appearance on the stand, an unusual event in any capital case and a remarkable one, where a woman was asked to face her life which she decided the defendant's innocence in the minds of the jurors. The verdict was what we expected. It frees an innocent woman, but leaves as a mystery the end of the trial. Her husband, for six months I have tried to find out what was behind the poison which caused his death, but my investigations have developed no satisfactory explanation. It must probably remain a mystery."

Interest in Trial. Because of the prominence of Rear Admiral Eaton, the trial of Mrs. Eaton, who was his second wife, her life and her death, was of great interest. The admiral took a prominent part in the battle of Santiago. After his retirement he settled down on a little chicken farm at Assinippi, where he died on March 10th. The trial began October 14.

WORKINGMEN'S FUNERALS AT AN EXORBITANT COST

Madison, Wis., Oct. 30.—If the bills paid by widows of workmen are any criterion, it is cheaper to live than to die. In the settlement of claims of workmen these bills are often brought to the attention of the industrial commission and they vary from $300 to $400. Here is a sample of the bills that the industrial commission received today:

Casket $50.00
Grave vault 50.00
Carriages 36.00
Hearse 25.00
Burial lot 2.00
Opening grave 3.00
Closing grave 3.00

In this case the widow had only $1,200 property left her and she had to sell the household furniture to pay the bill. Under the industrial commission law, if the employer has to pay for the funeral, a maximum of $100 is allowed. The above funeral cost the widow $325.

QUESTIONS OF DOUBT.
One of the principles which govern in business, where elements of hazard are involved, is to give the business the benefit of the doubt, and many an enterprise has been saved from financial shipwreck, by observing this principle.

What is true in the realm of commercial life, is emphasized in the domain of morals, where conscience is the court of last resort, and many a life has been saved or ruined by decisions rendered on questions of expediency.

The social life of the nation is just now confronted with a problem of this character, and all sorts of arguments are presented on both sides of the question.

The new dances, absorbing so much attention, may be perfectly proper, under proper supervision, but the element of an expediency class, and put them on the doubtful list.

Many towns and inland cities have met this problem squarely, by saying that the danger line is so near the surface that they are obliged to recognize it, and so the modern dance is tabooed, in the interests of safety and good morals.

It remains to be seen how Janesville will dispose of the question. The dance in itself may be as harmless as the minuet, but it possesses all sorts of possibilities, and therein lies the danger.

While the mothers may not be demoralized, except through infatuation, how about the daughters? Is the pastime worth the risk? These are some of the questions which should be thoroughly considered, and if any skepticism remains, better give it the benefit of the doubt.

HIGH PRICED MEAT.

A dispatch from Kansas City to a New York journal throws some light on the stock market. It says:

"General concern is manifest among cattle producers and commission dealers, for the first time this year, over the effects of the removal of duties on cattle and meats. The rush of Canadian cattle into this country and the imports of Argentine and Australian beef at Atlantic coast ports have already resulted in declines of 50 cents to $1 per hundred weight on cattle the last fortnight."

"Perhaps the most surprising feature of the beef imports from Argentina, which have affected adversely the buying on this market by New York butchers, as well as of packers, is the fact that the Armour and Swift interests are credited with bringing this country to their South American plants. Stockmen had expected that the big packers, who are interested not only in large packing houses here, but also in the leading stock yards, would attempt to discourage foreign competition in the United States."

"It is reported here that Sulzberger & Sons, one of the big American packing houses, have arranged to build two plants in South America, one in Brazil and another in Uruguay. One of the managers of the Kansas City business of Sulzberger & Sons has been in South America for months."

"No large rush of Mexican cattle into Texas followed the enactment of the Underwood tariff, conditions in the southern republic being too unsettled to permit extensive exportations. Constitutionalists of northern Mexico are levying an export duty on all cattle passing through their lines."

"Farmers and feeders in the corn belt are buying stocker and feeder cattle with hesitancy, as a result of the developments the last few weeks. Local traders in these grades of cattle have a heavy accumulation, the undertone of the market being much weaker than during the largest run at the height of the drought the past summer. Speculators who purchase thin cattle here for distribution to Ohio and Pennsylvania farmers report competition from Canadian cattle sold through the Buffalo market."

"Whether cattle feeding operations already planned will be abandoned remains to be seen. It is a curious fact that, despite the reduced corn crop, thin cattle sold up to this time at higher prices than in 1912, feeders having been enthusiastic over the future demand for finished animals."

Kansas City and Omaha, Neb., combined sent 615,000 stocker and feeder cattle to the country the past three months, compared with 564,000 the same time last year. As record prices were paid for these cattle and as feed is very high, feeders must obtain unprecedented prices for the animals when finished or suffer losses."

"Receipts of cattle here continue heavy, despite the enormous premature sales of the past three months. Colorado, New Mexico and other range states are sending the bulk of the offerings. Several railroads have come from Florida."

"Some stockmen are still moving cattle from Kansas to Oklahoma, for the winter, feed being more abundant in the latter state. Many Texas cattle sent to Oklahoma early this year are being re-shipped to the Lone Star state. These are strange cattle movements, indeed. Thousands of cattle will be fattened on cottonseed hulls and cottonseed cake by the oil mills of Texas and Oklahoma this winter."

The great grazing lands of the west are largely of the past, and the expense of developing all kinds of meat from the hoof to the hook, has doubled in the past decade. Shipping stock from one section of the country to another, for the purpose of feeding, is an expensive proposition, and the ultimate consumer pays the freight.

The day of cheap feed is also a thing of the past. Corn around seventy cents means meat in proportion, and while free trade on meat products may weaken prices to some extent, there will be no perceptible change in the retail market, unless a touch of hard times and enforced idleness cuts down the demand.

Better high priced meat, and high priced everything else, than that this should happen. The high cost of living is infinitely better than no living, and that's what hard times would mean to many of us.

ONE WAY OUT.

While the country at large is watching and waiting for the outcome of the Mexican situation, and the Mexican newspapers are casting slurs at the government at Washington and the alleged interference of the United States in Mexican politics, the European press is merely marking time until it discovers just what the United States is going to do. Really it is a difficult problem for the present administration to solve. It is perhaps unfortunate that it comes just at the start of the new administration, when a change in political parties has made a clean sweep of the trained men in various departments that might have handled the situation with more judgment, due to their training than untried diplomats. However, Woodrow Wilson has taken the matter up, viewing it from a student's point of view, and aided by Bryan, as secretary of state, is seeking some way out of the middle into which the administration has stepped. The Chicago Inter Ocean makes the suggestion that there is a way out of the entanglement, and says:

"Reports from the City of Mexico indicate that a way out of the blind alley in which the Wilson administration, under Mr. Bryan's management, of foreign affairs, has found itself in Mexico may be opened by what is now said to be the 'probable' result of the presidential election last Sunday."

"It appears that, although General Huerta said he couldn't be a candidate constitutionally, he was voted for on the same ticket with General Blanquet, now 'provisional vice president.' And it is also said that that wonderful Mexican constitution doesn't prohibit the re-election of the vice president."

"So Foreign Minister Moheno has given out a statement, pointing out that 'in the event that the Huerta-Blanquet ticket is shown to have polled a majority sufficient to be declared elected,' as now seems probable, 'the congress might declare the Huerta votes void but Blanquet elected vice president.'"

"General Blanquet would then take the oath as vice president. The presidency being vacant, he would automatically succeed to it pending the holding of another election at some future date. Thus, in form at least, General Huerta would be eliminated from the governmental situation."

"Mr. Moheno's statement is evidently somewhat in the nature of a 'trial balloon,' sent up to learn the direction of the international air currents. We should think that President Wilson and Mr. Bryan would grasp at the plan as offering a plausible and face-saving way out."

"Public opinion in this country thoroughly approves President Wilson's determination to avoid armed intervention in Mexico. But, while approving that policy on principle, clear-eyed observers are compelled to remark that Mr. Bryan's application of it doesn't seem to get anywhere in the direction of restoring order in Mexico."

"Presumably President Wilson and his secretary of state thought that if Huerta would be eliminated by election would bring forward somebody strong enough to take Huerta's place and willing to risk the adventure. No such person is visible. The plain truth is that Mr. Wilson's and Mr. Bryan's confidence in the problem-solving powers of 'the voice of the people' is a misfit when 'the people' are the average run of Mexicans."

"With General Huerta at least nominally eliminated, and at least no longer claiming to be President, the Wilson administration might see its way to end the 'recognition' controversy and give those who are, apparently, the strongest men in Mexico a chance to bring the situation there back to something like normal conditions."

It is up to the country board to decide whether Rock county shall have a competent instructor of agriculture whose duties it will be to aid the farmers of the county in obtaining the best crops from their farms. This is the day of progress and farming is as essential an occupation as manufacturing, so if there is anything in the plan Rock county should have the best money can buy.

So the jury has found that Mrs. Eaton did not take the life of the man whom she says she married to save his life. Juries are funny institutions anyway. They always do the unexpected, according to prosecuting attorneys who lose their cases.

Human life is no longer held cheaply in Kentucky. A murderer there, on his second trial, has been convicted and fined one cent and the costs.

On Sunday only, Nov. 2, Julia Swayne Gordon and Harry Northrup will appear in this notable drama of America and South Africa. It is a story of a physician and his wife, who through his devotion to his profession and through the treachery of a supposed friend, are nearly lost to each other. Duty calls him to Africa, and it is there that the climax comes.

Drastic methods to suppress crime are being taken by Chicago. No woman is permitted on its police force who will not acknowledge that she is at least thirty years old.

The king of Bavaria wants an increase in salary. Which goes to show that kings of Bavaria and kings of the diamond have some things in common.

There can be no gainsaying General Diaz's wisdom in acting on the law of flight before it got action on him.

Mrs. Eaton says she married the admiral to save his life, but doesn't claim that the marriage was an entire success.

The United States desires a free hand in dealing with Mexico. And it's the one ordinarily used for solar plexus purposes.

Once more the United States government has emphasized its unalterable opposition to all lotteries except its own.

Congressman Hobson's militancy seems to have been an insuperable obstacle to his admission into the W. C. T. U.

One queer thing about it is that nobody can tell when Senator Huerta himself will be seeking safety on a gunboat.

Mayor Harrison of Chicago claims to trace his descent from Pocahontas. Probably he is after the John Smith vote.

It is a question whether that tired feeling in Alabama is due to the hook worm or Congressman Hobson.

Recent events seem to indicate that Huerta doesn't give a Gamboa dyke who is president of Mexico.

At least Mrs. Pankhurst's coming has afforded new light upon the real nature of modern turbulence.

It isn't the income tax that is bothering most people, but the origo tax.

Many people do not believe that it is self interest altogether that leads the bankers of the country to oppose the bill. They do believe that in exalting too much the opinions of politicians over that of life long financiers, that the president is taking a jump in the dark.—Marionette Eagle-Star.

Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and the tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

STATE TAXES DOUBLE THOSE OF LAST YEAR

ROCK COUNTY APPORTIONMENT SHOWS AN INCREASE OVER HUNDRED PER CENT.

RECEIVE CERTIFICATE

Sum of $232,088.21 Must Be Raised as Compared with $83,444.94, Former Apportionment.

Rock county is called upon to pay more than double and nearly three times the amount of state taxes that it paid last year, according to the certificate of apportionment received from the state by County Clerk Howard Lee. The state this year demands for all purposes the sum of $232,088.21 last year the sum required was $83,444.94 which included the item of $2,851.55 charged the city of Janesville for reassessment. The county raised for all purposes, including state taxes, in 1912, $250,786.57, of which $170,193.45 was for county expenditures. It will be seen that if the county did not levy any more taxes for its own purposes this year than last the total levy for 1913 would be $402,281.69. But the county will levy considerably more. Approximately six thousand dollars more will have to be appropriated for building highways and the county board at its recent special session voted to appropriate $20,000 for road maintenance. The county, however, will receive $10,000 of state aid by reason of such appropriation.

The 1912 Reduction. The state tax levy in Rock county last year was lower than that of 1911 by about $20,000 because of remittances, there being no assessment against the county for the university, the normal schools or the new capital.

Items of Apportionment. The items charged to Rock county in the apportionments of 1912 and 1913 are as follows:

	1912	1913
Interest on Certificates of indebtedness	$4,559.43	$4,611.28
Free high schools	4,340.39	6,121.37
Graded schools	3,472.31	5,552.99
State university		32,903.18
Normal schools		14,623.61
Common schools		55,566.29
New capital		12,139.29
State highways		48,287.13
General purposes		43,397.44
Total		$224,032.57

The special charges upon the county for charitable and penal purposes are:

	1912	1913
Chronic insane	$131.04	$209.14
Northern hospital	171.39	269.66
State hospital	2,023.63	2,025.18
Home feeble minded		2,031.78
Industrial school for boys	356.23	427.67
Tuberculosis sanitarium	313.57	750.00
Total	$4,693.78	$5,763.38

Other Special Charges. Insurance of county property, $508.20. This will be an annual charge hereafter.

In Third Place. The state tax levy places Rock county in the third place in the list of the richest counties of the state. Milwaukee heads the list with a tax of $1,540,827.57. Dane is second with $424,317.76; Dodge is fourth with $230,459.42, and Fond du Lac county is fifth with $202,330.30.

Because of the fact that the valuation of the county has been increased by about four million dollars—from $98,163,785 to $72,323,941—the rate of taxation will not be so much higher as it would be if the valuation had remained the same, nevertheless the difference will probably not be perceptible to the average taxpayer. Approximately two-thirds of the increase in valuation is on real estate.

OFFERS SUPPORT IN EFFORT TO SECURE CLEAN FILMS ONLY

Management of Lyric Theatre Announces in Unsolicited Letter to Gazette.

Offering co-operation in any movement seeking to eliminate objectionable films from the local theatres, Mr. Brown, manager of the Lyric theatre, expresses his attitude on the matter of "clean pictures" in an entirely unsolicited letter to the Gazette. It is gratifying to note the stand taken by the local theatre management and the Gazette is pleased to publish Mr. Brown's letter below:

Editor the Gazette, City:
Dear Sir: Lyric theatre wishes to take notice of your short editorial in last night's issue regarding objectionable films, and to apologize for any offense that is sort that it may have committed.

It may be explained that the business of exhibiting motion pictures has followed the course of many other businesses; very profitable at first, its prosperity was not great a temptation for outsiders to come in. All over the country the field is now so crowded that exhibitors are going to every extreme to bring in the wary customers.

Fronts plastered with crime photographs, premium schemes, crime films and "cess-pool" films are the result. They are necessary, because "they get the money." An announcement of exquisite pictures of travel brings no response, but the public backs the houses where Chuck Connors or Cassie Chadwick is shown in pictures.

The condition confronts us here in Janesville as it confronts the cities, though in a far less degree. What is the remedy? Is it local censorship? No, because that is too good a task, as has been found out where it has been tried. Is it to prevent the showing of any films not passed by the National Board of Censorship? Possibly; this would help, if the requirement could be enforced. As you suggest, possibly the Civic League can find a remedy.

In any event, Lyric theatre stands ready, and is sure that all other theatres in the city do also, to help in any effort to bring about a better picture situation and make clean exhibitions financially practicable.

Yours very truly,
"E. T. B." LYRIC THEATRE.

SPORT Snap-Shots

Old Ad Wolgast isn't shoved away on the shelf just yet. Apparently his victory over Bat Nelson has filled him with new spirit and he figures he's just as much of the scrapping kid as he ever was. He recently went to New York and announced to Promoter Billy Gibson that he was eager to meet the winner of the Ritchie-Cross battle. It isn't unlikely that the match will be made. Both Cross and Ritchie have said they would like to fight Wolgast and there seems to be no reason why one or the other of them—which ever wins—shouldn't take him on. Ad declares that there is no truth in the idea that he has a broken rib and he also pointed out that he was willing to fight at any weight at all. Give him three weeks to train and he'd be all set to dust out the place with either of them. The result of such a fight would be interesting, altho' in view of Bat Nelson's extremely poor condition and the relatively poor showing made by Ad at that same bout, there is some reason to believe that Ad's chances aren't as fat as they might be. It has been agreed on almost every side that Wolgast's best fighting days have went.

You have to hand it to them, there's a grand old trio. Bender, Plank and Coombs have pitched 49 out of 21 world series games for the Athletics covering the last eight years. In fact in all world series games in which the Athletics have taken part in the past eight years Plank and Coombs have used in all but five different pitchers. Rush as we all have seen, pitched a winner in this most recent series and previous to that Andy Coakly pitched a losing game against the Giants in 1905. Aside from these two games every one has been pitched by one of our trio of veteran stars. Bender and Plank and Coombs. Jack Coombs is the champion worlds series pitcher of all time. In two series he won four games without a defeat, taking three from the Cubs in 1910 and one from the Giants this fall for a record of four world series games in succession, a sort of world series winning streak. Chief Bender was won 6 and lost 2. He dropped a game to the Giants in 1905, one to the Cubs in 1910 and one again the year following to the Giants. Eddie Plank is the hard luck pitcher of the three. He is credited with winning two games and losing four yet the outcome should have been different as he has had fewer runs scored against him than any of the Athletic pitchers. And so his brilliant showing this year was welcomed by all his team-mates.

James E. Gaffney, president of the Boston Braves called on President Heinmstead of the Giants the other day and humbly apologized. It seems that Gaffney at one time or another while the world's series games were in progress had said in a rather loud voice that he wasn't sure that every effort was being made to keep tickets out of the hands of speculators. In fact Gaffney had all but said that he was pretty certain that speculators could get all the tickets they wanted. And at the time he had been rather disagreeable about it. Gaffney had been unable to get four box tickets through the Giants management and had later got them from a speculator. Finding he could only use three boxes he turned the tickets for the fourth game over to a secretary of a former partner and later discovered that these same tickets had afterward been recalled by a speculator. "If I couldn't keep tickets from the speculators when I had only four boxes I can realize what trouble you must have had when you had $6,000," said Gaffney to Heinmstead. Whereupon everyone shook heads all round.

"WITHIN THE LAW."

One of the genuine treats of the local theatrical season is foreshadowed in the announcement that "Within the Law," Bayard Veiller's absorbing new play of modern American life which is the dramatic sensation of the year in New York and Chicago, is to be presented by the American Play Co., at the Myers Theatre on Saturday, November 1, matinee and evening.

This deservedly successful drama, which has been critically commended as possessing the most engrossing luably accounts in no small measure for the excellent manner in which they work together, and for the smoothness and evenness of their performances.

Principal among Mr. Bessey's players is Miss Bell Paul, who was his leading woman last season also, and who will be well remembered by the friends she made here upon the occasion of her former visit.

In the company also is Miss Adelaide Mellette, another prime favorite over this city. Miss Mellette this season had a splendid opportunity to

On the Spur of the Moment

Autumn on the Farm.

We've put the taters in the bin and gathered in the squash; We've thrashed the rutabagas and the onion crop, 'n' gosh, The cider mill is grindin' to a hand-some russet hue, The fodder's in the silo and the mince meat has not failed; The wheat has all been put away and oats have all been haled.

The county fair is over and the winter time is nigh; The apples are a-hangin' on the rafters fer to dry, The tellers are all pickin' out their seats at the store, Where they will argue politics all winter as of yore, And mother's started savin' up her hoard of Christmas pelf, In that same old blue teapot that stands on the kitchen shelf.

The boys have started cuttin' up the wood down in the lot, And father's started butcherin' most all the hogs he's got; The eggs are bein' salted and the pickles are in brine; The canned goods stand upon the shelf in an imposing line, The turkeys are a-roostin' mighty anxious on the limb, And each one is a wonderin' what will become of him.

The cornerib is a bustin' and the hay is in the barn, And grandma's knittin' wristlets out of vari-colored yarn, The good old apple butter is fermentin' in the jar, A spirit of contentment is reflected near and far, Of all the varied seasons, 'tis the one of sweetest charm, There's nothing that will quite compare with autumn on the farm.

Good Thanksgiving Dinner.

It has been our custom for several years to present to our readers a menu for a good Thanksgiving dinner, which can be obtained at small cost. Owing to the advanced prices of all things in the food line this year, our task has been somewhat difficult, but we have been able to figure out a menu which should be within the reach of all. This menu is calculated for a party of seventeen persons and the cost is only $1.33.

New York Notes.

I intended to get in touch with the great financiers during my stay here and I have succeeded. I have touched nearly all of them, but with little or no success. I called at 26 Broadway to see Mr. Rockefeller. He was not in, but his secretary gave me a tract—not a tract of oil land or anything like that, but a little pamphlet telling me how I could get to heaven. I told the secretary I was in no hurry to go there, but he said there was no expiration limit on the tract and I could use it any time, which is quite an improvement over the common variety of railroad ticket.

Mr. Carnegie's secretary offered me a library, but, although, I was very hungry, I did not feel equal to digesting a stone building of that sort. When Mr. Carnegie is gently touched he hands over a library, but there is nothing else doing. I would have taken that library home with me but had no way of carrying it.

as my grips are full of souvenirs for the loved ones at home. Some of the libraries that Uncle Andy has peddled out could almost be carried in the vest pocket.

I have not seen Evelyn Thaw yet. In fact I have not seen anybody thaw. It is a chilly crowd and if you want anything you buy it yourself.

Somewhat Mixed.

JANE GORDON IN "WITHIN THE LAW" AT MYERS THEATRE, SATURDAY, NOV. 1, MATINEE AND NIGHT.

man interest story given the stage in a decade, has for its central character, a pretty and quick-witted young woman who is falsely accused and wrongfully convicted of stealing from her employer. She serves three years in prison, comes out determined to "go straight," is betrayed time and time again by the police, and finally is forced to abandon the effort to honestly earn a livelihood and live by her wits.

She prospers by the use of many ingenious devices, outwindinges seducers, conducts a blackmailing operation on perfectly legal lines, fortified herself against police interference by effective lawyer defense and, in short, preys upon society at will as a law-breaker but remains herself always "within the law." At last she revenges herself upon the man who sent her unjustly to prison by luring his son into marriage. And then, of course, she falls in love with him.

"Within the Law" employs the services of one of the most carefully selected and evenly balanced acting organizations gathered in many seasons and the elaborate scenic production provided by the American Play Company, producers of the play. "Within the Law" is a world-wide success, as the play is at present equally popular in England, Germany and Australia.

BESSEY STOCK COMPANY.

It's always good to meet an old friend, and that's the way folks up through here feel toward Jack Bessey and his company of associate players, who open an engagement at the Myers Theatre on next Sunday matinee and night in "The Reformer," one of Mr. Bessey's best plays.

Most theatrical organizations feel that they have had a good long season here. The Jack Bessey company has not closed in the last seven seasons, which of itself is an indication how popular they are over the circuit where they are known.

Mr. Bessey's company is more like a great, big happy family than it is like a theatrical combination. Most of them have been members of it for the past six or seven seasons, and their friendliness toward one another prob-

TOBACCO

By GEORGE FITCH, Author of "At Good Old Slawash."

TOBACCO is a weed which is raised at great care and expense in the night-riding portions of the United States and elsewhere, and is totally consumed by fire later on, there being no insurance.

In fact, three-quarters of the arson in the world is committed upon tobacco. Every day a million dollars of tobacco goes up in smoke, and yet no effort is made to treat it with asbestos or to make it fireproof in any particular. Many substitutes for tobacco are often used, such as rope, cabbage, excelsior, tar paper, jute bagging, and twine, but unfortunately the substitutes burn as readily as the tobacco.

In fact, this is even more unfortunate than the inflammability of tobacco itself.

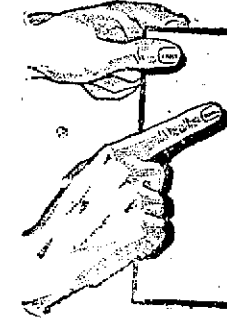

Tobacco is grown in the warm sunshine and consists of large bunches of flat, broad leaves which absorb the said sunshine and convert it into nicotine, a deadly poison which is said to be able to kill a man at forty paces if it cared to. When the tobacco is ripe it is chopped off and dried in bunches after which it is made into cigar, torches, fumigators, plug cut, cigarettes, snuff and other contagious articles.

Tobacco was first used by the Indians and was discovered by Sir Walter Raleigh, who made seapers out of it and used them to divert his mind from his seasickness on his way back to England. When Sir Walter lighted up his first cigar in England and began blowing double rings of dense smoke through his mouth and nose, and ears his servant threw a nail of water over him and called out the fire department. This method of breaking the cigar habit is not in vogue today.

Tobacco can be smoked, chewed, inhaled or eaten, with equally distressing effects upon those who do not use it. Most boys begin the use of tobacco at the age of ten and continue until their fathers discover the fact, after which they discontinue the custom, until they are too large to thrash. Tobacco readily becomes a habit and fastens talons of steel upon its victims, who will sometimes sell their vote or their everlasting friendship for a good cigar.

There are many kinds of tobacco. Some kinds will remove the lining of the throat neatly in a few minutes, and smoke like rainfed velvet. Some tobacco when smoked, will attract the attention of the health department four blocks away, while other kinds when made into cigars sell for $1 apiece, and make kings contend with their jobs.

The United States could have a million dollars a day by refraining from

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat
BY RUTH CAMERON

INDEPENDENCE IN THE HOME.

THREE young matrons were chatting over their family affairs one day. Said one of them, "Oh I must tell you the good news. My mother-in-law isn't going to live with us this winter after all. She's going to take an apartment with her widowed sister."

"Isn't that fine?" cried one of the matrons.

"I'm so glad," said the other.

And then, being young people with an unusual sense of humor, they all began to laugh at their own frankness.

"I suppose we ought to be ashamed of ourselves for talking this way," said the young woman who had announced the "good news." "But what's the use? We all feel that way and we might as well admit it. And I know it isn't because we dislike our mother-in-law either. I'm sure mine is a dear. She can't do enough for us and I'd as lief have her with me as anyone I know. But oh I do so much rather not have anyone in our little home except David and the baby and me. Isn't it queer? I'm ashamed of myself sometimes, but I just can't help feeling that way."

Do you think this woman had anything to be ashamed of? I don't.

She was merely expressing the universal desire for independence of life.

Of course if the mother-in-law had needed a home, it would have been her duty to give it and give graciously; and knowing her, I feel sure that she would have done so. But I don't blame her, nor the other women for being glad that they could preserve the unity of the family and their own independence.

I believe that every human being, or group of human beings, should have all the independence possible without infringing upon the rights and privileges of others.

I believe that if we all allowed each other more independence we should be happier.

For instance, I think children are far better off when they are allowed all the independence of action compatible with the rights of the rest of the family and their own best interests. If possible a child should have a room which belongs entirely to him and be king within that room. He should be allowed to arrange it to suit himself, and should be responsible for its condition. The rest of the family should respect his rights by knocking before entering.

Again, I think husbands and wives are far happier together when each allows the other a large measure of independence. A great deal of unhappiness is caused by assuming that husbands and wives must like exactly the same things and spend all their leisure time together. Now two people may love each other tenderly, and yet enjoy certain things which the other does not. The conventional assumption in such cases is that one or both must be sacrificed to a unity of interests. Why should anyone be sacrificed? Why shouldn't the husband read and the wife play cards with her neighbors for an hour or two, if he likes best to read and she to play bridge? They will still have plenty of time to be together and will probably enjoy that time much more.

Chains are burdensome things even when they bind us to those we love. We all enjoy independence and by that same token we ought to be willing to give it to others.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

THINGS WORTH KNOWING.

Apples and pears should always be wiped with a clean cloth and then rinsed before using for dessert.

A little flour sifted into the fat before frying will prevent the fat from spluttering and firing.

Use hot milk instead of cold when mashing potatoes and they will be lighter.

When keeping a case of oranges

it is wise to turn them out of the case, and wipe each orange with a dry cloth and then wrap it separately in grease-proof paper. Place them loosely in a dry wooden box.

THE TABLE.

Beef Loaf. Have chopped fine a pound and a half of raw beef, as you would for Hamburg steak, with a couple of slices of salt pork; mix with these a half cup of finely crushed chicken crumbs, a small tablespoonful of butter, a teaspoonful of salt, an egg and a good seasoning of pepper, onion juice (this in moderation), parsley and summer savory or sweet marjoram. Mix all well together and pack down in a buttered mold. A brick bread tin makes a shape which cuts into neat slices. Put this in dripping pan of hot water, cover the meat closely and bake in a steady oven for an hour and a half. Fill up the water from the kettle as it cooks away. When done leave the meat in the pan with a weight on it until it is entirely cold, then cut in thin slices with a sharp knife and use as filling for sandwiches. It is also nice to serve with crisp lettuce leaves, with or without the French dressing.

That's what you want, and that's what Calumet is guaranteed to give you—

It is sure in perfect leavening and raising qualities, in wholesomeness, in purity.

Perfectly raised, meltingly tender biscuit, cake, muffins, griddle cakes, are bound to result from its use.

Calumet goes farther than other baking powders—and at a moderate cost.

Insist on it at your grocers.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

THE food supply would be probably better selected, varied and cooked if the daily supervision were allotted definitely to one who has been trained for the purpose, and chosen because of capacity for the office.

BREAKFASTS.

There is probably no meal where daintiness and pretty dishes are more appreciated than at the first meal of the day, when the appetite needs urging. It is much better to have two or three well prepared dishes than too much variety. For young or old, fruit is a most acceptable beginning, and the season brings its own variety. One of the most appetizing and wholesome dishes for children, and in fact for any one, old or young, is the whole wheat. Get it from the mill or granary, if you are fortunate enough to live on a farm where you can have plenty of cream; if not, top milk is very good to serve with it. Soak the wheat over night, then cook it for eight hours in a double boiler or fireless cooker until the grain is soft and easily digested. Salt white cooking.

Breakfast Muffin.—A simple little breakfast cake, easy to make and very good is this: Beat an egg, add a half cup of milk, salt, two tablespoonfuls of baking powder; add flour to make a soft batter, add two tablespoonfuls of melted fat and pour into well greased gem pans to bake in a hot oven.

When bananas are not liked uncooked, they are delicious baked with butter; add lemon juice, with a sprinkling of sugar and a pinch of salt.

One needs to remember that most of the prepared cereals need double the time for cooking that is specified on the box.

A well made and seasoned hash is another good breakfast dish which is usually a great favorite. If baked in greased cups instead of the usual method it makes an agreeable change.

Eggs in a multitude of forms are one of our most easily prepared breakfast dishes, and one of the most nutritious. Omelets, too, are of endless variety, changing the flavor by the sauce or filling used in them.

An ordinary poached egg served with a nice, smooth, well flavored sauce will lose its ordinary commonness entirely.

Toasts and coffee are too good, when well prepared, to slight by not mentioning. Toast should be well browned and crisp. Coffee clear and well flavored are most important of all, all hot things should be served piping hot.

HEART and HOME PROBLEMS

MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Will you please tell me how to celebrate a golden wedding? It is to be celebrated in a Catholic church. The old couple wish to have their grandchildren take part in the celebration at church, such as bridesmaids and so on. There are nine grandchildren—two girls and two boys each twenty-one years old, two boys fifteen years, one girl thirteen, one girl ten and one girl eight years old.

THANKFUL READER.

Have the celebration in the form of a regular wedding, inviting the guests to the church to witness the golden wedding. Have a reception and supper after the wedding, either at the church or at the home. The oldest girls may be bridesmaids, one of the oldest boys may be best man, the others ushers or pages. The eight-year-old girl could be flower girl.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl of eighteen and am small for my years. When I was in grammar school but have no high school education.

My ideas are to the extreme, I either would like to be a nurse or act, or study to be a teacher.

Would you kindly advise me which to take, for I am not experienced in either and am I too young?

—ELEANOR.

Neither of the professions you name are easy.

You will perhaps have a better chance of becoming a good nurse, and make more money at it in the long run than you will have to become an actress for moving pictures.

Every fairly good looking girl in the country wants to act for the "movies," though the demand for actresses is extremely limited. Only experienced actresses are wanted for moving pictures and years are required to get the experience needed.

You will need to go through a course of severe training to become a nurse.

You are too young to begin now.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) What foods should I eat and which avoid in order to have a nice, clear and white complexion?

(2) I have heard some people say that putting water on the skin is harmful. Is that true?

(3) Can you recommend to me some good harmless face cream?

(4) What can be done to prevent pores from clogging?

(5) How much milk should anyone drink a day to be healthy and have a rosy complexion?

(6) How can I have fat arms and hands?

(7) Eat lots of vegetables and fruit. If you will eat plenty of apples and carrots, cooked or raw, they will help to make you healthy, happy and pretty. Do not eat rich foods, rich gravies or pastries, very little candy, nuts and coffee. Drink plenty of pure water and good butter milk, and sweet milk if it agrees.

Mrs. William R. Moyle.

In the rapid-fire marriage of William R. Moyle, former newspaper man of San Francisco, and Miss Emma Roblin, an attractive Sacramento girl, two new Pacific coast records were set. Not only did the ceremony occur within twenty-four hours after the couple met, but no less than thirty clergymen officiated.

It was a case of love at first sight; and when the couple heard of a minister's banquet they rushed there to get some one to tie the knot. The thirty ministers present, together tied the matrimonial knot.

Every Day Talks for Every Day People

By FRANCES JOYCE KENNEDY.

In the juvenile court of Chicago last Thursday the case of a little boy was up for "skipping school." It came to light, in the questioning that ensued, that the reason he absented himself from school was because his father drank heavily and his home was such that he simply could not make school at nine; so he remained away.

He was forced to go out and procure his own breakfast, not always being successful. He was a fearless, honest looking little chap, one that should be given a better chance by far, than he is getting.

The magazines of today give considerable space to pieces wherein the chances of the rich boy, the boy of moderate income and the poor boy, are debated; giving the palm to the poor boy where the chances of success in life is concerned.

Now, we all frankly admit that too much pampering will make a "sissy" out of any boy—but not enough care and kindness will also tend to make a street urchin out of a boy, who, if he was given work at home or clean, healthy amusement, would grow up as a boy should. "Many men of many minds" can be aptly said to apply to the raising of our children, no two people having the same ideas on the subject.

Still, the fundamental principles of child raising are the same all over this great land of ours. We are all striving to do our very best, to so train our children that, when they have arrived at man's estate, they will be qualified to enter the race. The race that goes only to the best equipped; to the boy who has been trained from the very cradle up in the lessons of obedience, self-reliance, and self-control.

To be a good master one must have in one the ability to be a good servant; for to know how a thing should be properly done, one should be able to themselves perform the task.

Can a father teach his son the invaluable lessons of self-reliance and self-control if he is lacking in these characteristics himself? Can he expect his growing boy to obey if he is a strictly poor example of system himself?

A parent cannot be inconsistent in the raising of a boy, if you say one thing and do another, think you that son is deceived? No! He simply tells himself that dad is "smooth." Then he is introduced to deceit, taught by his own father.

Have you met the boy who will not emulate his father, who will not watch "daddy" and then try and do likewise?

The responsibility of a father does not end when the grocery bill is paid, when the boy is well fed and warmly clothed; your son cannot live by bread alone—you must train his moral side also; you must teach him to discriminate between right and wrong, for the world today is filled with conflicting forces, and the world old rule of "He who breaks must pay" should be instilled in the mind of your son, if you would have him grow up to be a credit to you—to the name he bears.

Father, how do you spend your evenings? How much time do you put in on that growing boy of yours?

GRANDMA SEZ

NEW LAWS CONFRONT LITERARY SOCIETIES

Four High School Clubs Forced to Obey New Measures Set Down by Critics and Supt. Buell.

Because of the freedom, which the Forum took upon themselves last year near the close of the spring term, in allowing dancing to take place at their annual banquet, it has been deemed advisable by the critics of the four societies, together with Superintendent Buell, to arrange some way of prohibiting such conduct of affairs from being carried on. To remedy the situation, Prof. Buell called a meeting of the critics, and the societies and a set of rules were made, whereby the supervision of the critic of the respective society must always be prevalent.

Following are the new amendments as they were agreed to by the following critics: Prof. J. T. Shearer, Forum; Prof. Guy W. Curtis, Rusk; Miss Grace Mout, of the Philomathean; and Miss Grace Mout, of the Philomathean.

Initiation of any kind including either ceremonies, except those provided in the constitution, or humorous tasks to be performed by the new or prospective members are prohibited, and treats on new members or officers at restaurants or elsewhere are permissible, only with consent of the critics, and the number of such treats shall be limited to four, to be members and two by officers, during the school year.

Social dancing at any function where the name of the society is attached thereto, either by spirit of the gathering or in any kind of function, or other social functions must be completely under the control of the critic and superintendent, both as to time, frequency, character of the function, and shall be ascertained by the critic or his or her representative.

Eligibility for new members includes an average past term standing of 75 percent in high school studies, or 85 percent of eighth grade work standing.

Pupils shall be temporarily suspended by the critic when the standards fall below 75 percent, for any unit of time to be determined by the critic, but may be reinstated whenever such standing is made up satisfactory to the teacher having the pupil in their respective classes.

The selection of new members shall be from a list submitted by the membership committee with the approval of the critic.

"There are not enough societies in the high school," declared Prof. Shearer, yesterday. "There should be enough societies to give every student in the school a chance sometime during their high school career, to have learned what is known by the name of literary societies."

"I hope that this goal might be reached within due time in the local high school."

UNCLE WALT The Poet Philosopher

Copyright, 1909, by George Mathew and Sons BY WALT MASON

All summer long the land was dry, no moisture from the clouds driving; we saw all vegetation die, and yet our whisks kept on thriving. We didn't need a whiskers crop, we needed out wheat and barley, and yet they growing didn't stop, they wouldn't die, so help me, die, so help me, die. Autumn comes the flowers fall, they perish when cold winds are blowing; the vines all wither on the wall—but human whisks keep on growing. And what becomes of all the bales of whisks grown on mainly faces—the one great crop that never fails, no odds what weather freaks it faces? The one great crop that laughs at drowth, defies the frost king and his legions, that prospers West, or North, or South, on desert sands, in Arctic regions? Do we conserve this great resource, this crop that we can count on always? No! Science plods along her course, and finds no use for human whisks. She's making paper out of straw, and nutmeers out of elm or willow, she's forming cigarettes of saw, and

Make This and Try It for Coughs

This Home-Made Remedy has no Equal for Prompt Results.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with 1/2 pint of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex (fifty cents worth) in a pint bottle; then add the Sugar Syrup, and shake well. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

This simple remedy takes hold of a cough more quickly than anything else ever used. Usually conquers an ordinary cough inside of 24 hours. Splendid, too, for whooping cough, spasmodic croup and bronchitis. It stimulates the appetite and is slightly laxative, which helps end a cough.

This makes more and better cough syrup than you could buy ready made for $2.50. It keeps perfectly and tastes like Pinex.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, and is rich in quaiaccol and other natural pine elements which are so healing to the membranes. Other preparations will not work in this plan.

Making cough syrup with Pinex and sugar syrup (or strained honey) has proved so popular throughout the United States and Canada that it is often imitated. But the old, successful mixture has never been equaled.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. Your druggist has Pinex or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

drawing salt from ocean billow. She's looking ever for new ways to utilize the waste, and save it, but for your beard no market prays, when with a butcher knife you shave it. Our hang-downs glitter in the sun, we sadly sigh whenever we lose them; we're raising whiskers by the ton, and cannot find a way to use them.

Idea Refuted.

Wife—"According to this paper, hot water will prevent wrinkles." Hub—"Don't believe it! Look how wrinkled Peek is, and his wife keeps him in hot water all the time!"

GIRLS! CLEAN AND BEAUTIFY YOUR HAIR; NO MORE DANDRUFF—25 CENT DANDERINE

Try this! Makes hair soft, glossy, fluffy, abundant—Stop washing the hair with soap.

Surely try a "Danderine Hair Cleanser" if you wish to immediately double the beauty of your hair. Just moisten a cloth with Danderine and draw it carefully through your hair, taking one small strand at a time, this will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or any excessive oil—in a few minutes you will be amazed. Your hair will be wavy, fluffy and abundant and possess an incomparable softness, lustre and luxuriance.

Besides beautifying the hair, one application of Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; invigorates the scalp, stopping itching and falling hair.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

You can surely have pretty, soft, lustrous hair, and lots of it, if you will just get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store, or toilet counter and try it as directed.
